Message from the President:

To kick off the fall, our September program is going to be a unique event.

Given the recent events in the Gulf of Mexico, the Chapter, along with UAA, will be co-sponsoring a public forum on the future of offshore drilling in Alaska.

The forum will be Wednesday, September 22, 2010, 7:00 p.m. – 9:00 p.m., at the Wendy Williamson Auditorium at UAA.

The panelists will be:

- David Ramseur, Chief of Staff to Senator Mark Begich
- Mayor Edward Itta, North Slope Borough
- Pete Slaiby, General Manager, Shell Oil Alaska Co.
- John Schoen, Senior Scientist, Alaska Audubon Society .

The forum will be moderated by Michael Carey, host of Anchorage Edition and Running, and guest columnist for the Anchorage Daily News.

The purpose of the forum will be to present a variety of perspectives to the public and conduct a deliberative discussion surrounding the benefits and risks of Arctic drilling within the contexts of:

- dealing with oil spills in an ice environment
- risk mitigation (prevention, paying for spill damages)
- benefits of Alaska offshore development.

The last portion of the forum will be audience questions to panelists.

Admission is free. Parking for the event will be free. Wendy Williamson Auditorium is at the intersection of Lake Otis Parkway and 36th Avenue in Anchorage. For a map see: <http://www.uaa.alaska.edu/map/>

Hope to see you there.

In other news, the Chapter has recently created a website, www.anchorageiaee.org. Our website features information about the chapter, upcoming chapter events and allows people to pay their annual membership fee of $25 by credit card using PayPal.

Member fees support the annual $1,000 scholarship for the best original research in energy economics by any college student in Alaska. Aside from very modest administrative costs, all membership dues go toward the scholarship.

Thank you,

-Roger Marks
